A string made eloquent by death. Oh! never breathe a lost one's name To those who called that one their own; It only stirs the mouldering flame That burns upon a charnel stone. The heart will ache and well nigh break To miss that one forever fled; And lips of mercy should not wake A love that cherishes the dead.

From the Christan Press American Literature.

The thrilling incidents which are now almost daily related connected with the sufferings and heroic daring of the s'aves in effecting their escape, and the manner in which some of these things have already been immortalized by the genius of Mrs. Stowe, show very clearly where and how the Providence of God is laying one broad basis for a distinctive and exclusively "American Literature." Scott had no such wealth, of material for his pen, as the history of Slavery already supplies, and it may well fill us with wonder to observe how God is now arraying the genius and talent of the land on the side of the oppressed. The following may supply a scene for some future Wizard of the West.

JUST ESCAPED FROM SLAVERY .- The broad Lakes and Rivers which have so long rolled between us and our bereft brothers, who were dragged away in early life, by the American elaveholders, and the impossibility of their eccape from the extreme South of Canade, had a!most extinguished the last lingering hope in us that we should ever meet again on the sho es of time, but on last Wednesday morning we had the good fortune to meet three or four of our dear brothers, fresh from our old master's prison-house. The pleasure that it gives us to be able to make this announcement is "unspeak: ble and full of joy. They left Albert G. Si Ley and family who has long lived upon their unrequited toil, without a single slave to black their boots or cultivate their fields. This lead us to remember the sublime sentence of Wa to that

The modus operandi of this remedy, in the cure of this class of discases, is through the general economy of the system, with a peculiar determination to the female by the north star at night and the sun by day, eral days, with the view of bringing off his two brothers, but for some cause they could not get ready to start just then and he started on his in the cure of thousands, but its career is but just entered upon, for millions of ladies are now suffering for want of its aid.

In proof of this we will give a little incident which happened on thei way. After Granville left Silbley's plantation, on his way he had occasion to cross a large prarie; when he got about half way across it he had occasion to stop, where he lost a large jack knife; and there was no road or broken track-and yet as the other two came across in the same direction they found their brother's knife, and recognized it, and brought it on to him in Canada. and within less than three days after Granville arrived here, the other two arrived also and found their brother, all of whom passed through Windsor, without knowing they had a single re!ative in Canade, much less in Windsor.

The circumstances of our being brought together in Canada are rather peculiar, not having seen each other for about sixteen years, and the younger brothers were then quite small; yet on last Wednesday we met one of our brothers on the Ferry boat, and, after a few words con versation, recognized each other. We then conducted our brother to our humble residence. where he found his and our dear mother, and before the close of that day we had the most joyful greeting with our newly arrived selfemancipated bretheren. Our mother, who had long been robbed of her children, was here unexpectedly, and joyfully permitted to meet them under the protection of Bilian's Flag.

DR. HALSEY'S FOREST WINE:

The discovery of the Ferest Wine is the greatest blessing of the age. Put up en quart buttles a single bottle of which does more good and goes further in the cure of disease than ten bottles of any Sarsapar-illa in use, and warranted to cure with-

It is not to be wondered at then that ten and ever twenty bottles of these Sarssparillas are sometimes ta-ken without any perceptible benefit. Not so with the Forest Wine. Are diseases of the mind as well as of the body, are usually brought on by sroubles and afflictions, and are most common to persons of delicate constitutions and sensitive minds. Low spirits, inclanchedy frightful dreams, and fearful anticipations of evil from the slightest causes, generally accompany nervous disorders. The Forest Wine and Pills are an energetic remedy in these complaints. Extract of a letter from Mr. Joseph C. Paulding, dated

Dr. G. W. HALSKY—Deer Sir, your Forest wine and Pills have cured my wife of a dreadful nervous disorder, with which she had been afflicted for many years. Her body was a/most wested away. She was frequently dis-turbed in her sleep by frightful dresms, awakening quite exhausted and covered with perspiration, and at times aboring under the delusion that something dreadful was aboring under the delusion that something dreadful was about toliappen to ber. By the use of four bottles of the wine, and a box of the pills, she is now in perfect health. She has regained her flesh and color, and enjoys society as well as ever.

Many persons are afflicted with some one of the above complaints, without being able to trace it to any particular cause, and therefore deley the use of the proper rem edy, until the disease becomes constitutional. These disorders are often characterized by a sense of sinking, or entire exhaustion after exercise. Some experience sluggishness, insatude, and at times, paleness or flushing oms. The excellent effects which have ever attended the use of the Forest Wine and Pills, in every species of de bility, is conclusive evidence of its happy results in this class of disorders. Many have resorted to these medicines as an ULTINATUM, and been speedily cured. For nervous disorders and debility, the Wine and Pills are ta-ken according to the directions on the label Ague and Fever, or Chills

In the first place, take a large dose of the Forest pills in time, that their operations may subside before the return chill. The stomach being now well cleaned, take three or four large doses of the Wine, at intervals of half an hour, commencing about two hours before the period for the chill to return. This breaks the ague, after which the wine should be continued in small doses, to restore strength. See full directions around the bottle. The Forest Wine and Pills are recommended asan effi-
